Crown Point Community Foundation awards $480,690 in scholarships

The inaugural Crown Point Community Foundation Scholarship Awards Night was held on April 23rd at the Halls of St. George. The event brought together scholarship recipients, including graduating high school students, current college/trade school students, and non-traditional adult learners, and their families to celebrate their outstanding achievements as they embark on a journey filled with growth and opportunity.

Valpo U awarded the Carnegie Elective Classification for Leadership for Public Purpose

Valparaiso University has been awarded the Carnegie Elective Classification for Leadership for Public Purpose, a designation that acknowledges the strength of Valpo's mission that "prepares students to lead and serve in both church and society."

Valpo is in a select group of only 25 universities in the United States to earn the Leadership for Public Purpose classification in 2024. The 2024 list of institutions — which is the inaugural class to receive this classification — was announced by the Carnegie Foundation. Visit www.valpo.edu for more information on the classification, including the list of 25 universities.

"This honor speaks to Valparaiso University's demonstrated commitment to provide an educational experience that prepares our graduates to lead lives of leadership and service," said Valpo President Jose Padilla. "Our graduates are sought after for their knowledge, character, integrity, and wisdom. That translates into thoughtful, compassionate, and ethical leaders ready to take on the challenges of a complex global world."

Leadership is at the foundation of a Valpo education and the focus of initiatives in the University's strategic plan, Uplift Valpo: Our Beacon for the Journey Forward. The successful application and awarding of the Carnegie Foundation's Elective Classification for Leadership for Public Purpose has accomplished a primary goal of Uplift Valpo. The impact of the recognition will accommodate further efforts to align the campus mission, culture, leadership, resources, and practices in support of dynamic and noteworthy leadership engagement.

Specifically, the Classification supports the academic goal that all graduates will establish a leadership and service portfolio prior to earning their degree. Every student's tenure at Valpo will conclude with a unique portfolio of leadership and service experiences with a combination of theory and practice that demonstrate their abilities within these domains.

The notification letter from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching stated, "This classification acknowledges campuses like yours that are intentionally cultivating leadership abilities across students, faculty, and staff."

Valpo has long been recognized for graduates who are leaders in their workplace and communities. (See Valpo Pg. 5)

CPCSC recognizes Teacher and Employee of the Year for 2024-25

The Crown Point Community Schools Corporation has announced its Teacher and Employee of the Year for the 2023-24 school year.

Elementary Teacher of the Year - Theresa Zarndt

Theresa Zarndt is a third grade teacher at MacArthur Elementary with 30 years of service in education, 24 of which have been as a teacher. She has an Elementary Education degree from Calumet College of St. Joseph and an Early Childhood degree from Purdue Calumet.

Department of Natural Resources recreation and fishing guidebooks are online

Your latest guides to exploring Indiana's great outdoors are now available at your fingertips and at a DNR property near you. Indiana.

The 2024 Indiana Recreation Guide is available now at www.on.IN.gov/rec-guide.

And your 2024-2025 guide to Indiana fishing, the Indiana Fishing Regulations Guide, is available at www.on.IN.gov/fishingguide.

The DNR's 2024 Indiana Recreation Guide is the source for information on state parks, state forests, lakes, fish & wildlife areas, nature preserves, state park inns, and other DNR properties. The guide includes a great facilities chart and information about accessibility and fees.

Soon, free printed copies of each will be available at local retail outlets, state parks, lakes, and other DNR properties.

Annual entrance passes for state park properties can be purchased in person at the gatehouse or offices of state park properties during business hours, at www.shopIN-stateparks.com any time, or at the Boat, Sport and Travel Show.

Indiana resident passes cost $50. For individuals 65 years old or older, the price is $25. Annual passes for vehicles with out-of-state license plates are $70. Normal daily gate fees for residents at most properties are $7 per in-state vehicle. For more information on Indiana state park properties, visit www.stateparks.IN.gov.

Fishing and hunting licenses can be purchased and printed at www.INHuntFish.com. They can also be purchased at retailers, county clerk offices, and most DNR properties throughout the state, as well as at the Boat, Sport and Travel Show.

One-third of Indiana households unprepared for extreme weather events, reveals survey

In recent years, natural disasters such as droughts, floods, and hurricanes have become increasingly frequent, gradually becoming the new norm.

A survey of 3,000 respondents to gauge the level of preparedness among households for coping with catastrophic weather conditions. The survey was commissioned by ServiceMaster. For example, do Texans stockpile water in anticipation of droughts, Illinoisans maintain their sump pumps to withstand flooding, and Californians take precautionary measures like cleaning gutters, porches, and decks to mitigate the risks associated with wildfires? Alarmingly, the survey revealed that a significant 31% of households do not take any proactive measures ahead of natural disasters. This lack of preparation is particularly concerning in states like Washington, where only 44% of households reported taking preventive steps, despite the state's vulnerability to several natural disasters due to its diverse geography and climate. Washington is prone to earthquakes, floods, and wildfires, making it essential for residents to be well-prepared.

On the other hand, Idaho emerged as the state with the most prepared residents, with 80% of households taking steps to prepare for natural disasters. Idaho's fire season typically extends from late spring through early fall when conditions are dry and hot. Additionally, flooding is a frequent hazard in the state, particularly during the spring when snowmelt from the mountains swells rivers and streams, and flash flooding can occur during heavy rainstorms.

When it came to Indiana specifically - a state affected by flooding during the spring and summer months - the survey found that over one-third of households do not take proactive steps to prepare for extreme weather events. Heavy rainfall from thunderstorms, combined with snowmelt in the spring, can lead to flooding in Indiana. Rivers, streams, and low-lying areas are particularly susceptible to flooding, which can cause property damage, road closures, and disruptions to transportation.

The survey also shed light on the psychological impact of extreme weather events, with over 1 in 3 (35%) respondents reporting that they suffer from anxiety due to these occurrences. Among households that do not take preventive measures, financial constraints were cited as the primary reason, followed by uncertainty about the necessary supplies or actions to take. Surprisingly, 13% of respondents said that no one had explained to them what they need to do and why.

The survey also revealed a significant knowledge gap, with less than half (48%) of participants stating that they fully understand the risks of natural weather events in their area. Furthermore, only 1 in 5 respondents reported having a set plan among household members in case of a natural disaster.

Finally, when asked about their household's ability to sustain itself with current emergency supplies after an extreme weather event, 22% said they could only last for a few days, while 36% said they could survive for one week. Only 3% of respondents declared that they could sustain themselves for three weeks.

"The results of our survey are a wake-up call for all Americans," said Diana Rodriguez-Zaba, founder of ServiceMaster Restoration by Zaba. "It's alarming to see that so many households are not taking any proactive measures to prepare for natural disasters, despite the increasing frequency and severity of these events. Diligent property maintenance can mean the difference between preservation and loss - in fact, preparedness should not be considered a choice, but a necessity."

ServiceMaster Restoration has included some basic tips on how best to prepare for extreme weather events:

Floods

- Elevate electrical systems, appliances, and install flood vents to reduce damage.
- Keep important documents in a waterproof container and create digital copies.
- Ensure proper landscaping to direct water away from your home.
- Consider investing in sandbags and other flood-defense materials.
- Create an evacuation plan that includes a go-bag with essentials and know local flood evacuation routes.

Tornadoes

- Identify a safe room or storm shelter in your home; if not available, a basement or an interior room on the lowest floor without windows is best.
- Keep helmets and heavy shoes in your shelter area to protect against flying debris.

- Conduct regular tornado drills with your family so everyone knows where to go and what to do.

- Have an emergency kit ready in your shelter area.

Wildfires

- Create a defensible space around your home by clearing away brush and dead vegetation.
- Use fire-resistant materials for roofing and siding if possible.
- Prepare a 'wildfire action plan' with evacuation routes and a communication plan.
- Have an emergency kit with N95 respirator masks to protect against smoke inhalation.
- Keep a hose connected and ready to douse small fires if safe to do so.

Have fun, but make water safety a priority this summer

In the midst of swimming season, Indiana Conservation Officers remind Hoosiers to make safety a priority when recreating around bodies of water.

"Even when fun is your main focus, always recognize the danger water poses, even to strong swimmers or experienced boaters," said Capt. Jet Quillen of DNR Law Enforcement.

If you are going to be recreating around water, follow these basic safety tips:

- Discuss the dangers of water with your family and loved ones before going out.
- Wear a lifejacket.
- Tell someone where you are going and when you will return.
- Go with a buddy.
- Do not venture around flooded or fast-moving waterways.
- Avoid alcohol.

In addition to basic water safety, Indiana Conservation Officers also stress the importance of boating safety and remind boaters to know the rules of the water.

Reducing a boat's speed in unfamiliar areas and being aware of unusual water conditions respective to the size and type of boat are not only safety tips, but also important environmental considerations. Regardless of your boat type, doing an initial assessment of water levels and current speed are essential.

Designate a sober boat operator. Alcohol causes impaired balance, blurred vision, poor coordination, impaired judgement, and slower reaction time. These impairments can be magnified by wave action, sun exposure, and wind. It is illegal to operate a motorboat or personal watercraft in Indiana while intoxicated due to alcohol or drugs. Indiana law defines intoxication as having a blood alcohol level of 0.08% or greater.

A lifejacket should be United States Coast Guard approved, in good working condition, and size appropriate for the wearer. New lifejackets are designed to be lighter, less obtrusive, and more comfortable. Inflatable lifejackets allow mobility and flexibility for activities like boating, fishing, or paddling, and are much cooler in warmer weather.

Nominations sought for 20th anniversary of South Shore Legends induction

Nominations are now open for a new South Shore Legend to be added to the Wall of Legends at the Indiana Welcome Center in Hammond. Nominees should have accomplishments that resonate in and beyond northwest Indiana that demonstrate innovation, creativity, courage and/or exploration.

"Recognizing people from Northwest Indiana for their contributions to the region and to greater society is an important part of creating region pride and providing inspiration to future generations," said Kelly Anoe, Legacy Foundation President & CEO. "We are excited to be a partner in bringing this program back."

Legends are individuals, living or dead, who have had a substantial impact with lasting implications and have lived or worked in Lake, Porter, La Porte, Jasper, Newton, Pulaski or Starke counties.

"With the support from Legacy Foundation and BP Whiting Refinery, the Indiana Welcome Center completely redesigned the Wall of Legends to an interactive kiosk for the 20th anniversary," stated Phil Taillon, CEO & President at the South Shore Convention & Visitors Authority. "The rich history of these legends is an inspiration to all of us who live and work in the area."

South Shore Legends are typically historical contributors, not modern-day innovators. Past Legends include Orville Redenbacher, Charles Bowman & Garnet Findling for revolutionizing the popcorn industry, Frank Borman - Apollo 8 Commander, "A Christmas Story" author Jean Parker Shepherd, and many others.

Nominations will be accepted through July 31, 2024. Multiple individuals engaged in the same activity can be included in one nomination. Direct questions to Stephanie@southshorecva.com. For more information, to view past Legends or to make a nomination visit www.alongthesouthshore.com/legends

Crown Point Community School Corporation details Summer Nutrition Assistance Program

If your household income is less than 185% of the Federal level, the school aged children in your household may be eligible for a new program called SUN Bucks. Households that have been notified of eligibility by Direct Certification do not need to apply.

Participating families will receive $120 for each eligible child on a card that you can use to buy food during the summer at grocery stores, farmers markets, and other authorized retailers. If you think your children are eligible, you can get SUN Bucks by filling out a simple application. To apply for SUN Bucks at www.indiana-sunbucks.com. Applications will be accepted until Friday, August 16, 2024 in order to get benefits for this summer. If you need assistance filling out an application, or if you have questions, submit a ticket to the online help form:

www.idoe.atlassian.net/serVICEDesk/customer/portal/11.

You will need to provide your child's name, school, date of birth, along with the names of other people in your household, your household income, and address where you would like the benefit card to be sent. You will not need to provide any documentation to apply. Receiving Summer EBT will not affect children or families' immigration status.

In addition to SUN Bucks the children under 18 years of age in your household can also receive free meals during the summer at a summer meal site. You can call 1-866-3-HUNGRY or 1-877-8-HAMBRE (or text 914-342-7744 with the keyword "summer meals") to find the location closest to you. Find more information by visiting the SFSP Site Finder.

The Institute for Leadership and Service, the Richard C. and Francelia A. Gozon University Chair in Values-Based Leadership, Study Abroad and service-learning experiences, committed faculty, and a wide range of student organizations and activities all provide leadership opportunities for students. "Leadership is core to Valpo's mission," said Provost Eric

Johnson '87, Ph.D. "As a Valpo graduate, who has come back to this special place and served as a faculty member, dean, and now provost, I believe that every student has the opportunity to develop and hone their leadership skills. This Carnegie recognition will drive us to develop even more impactful curricular and co-curricular initiatives across the University."

The 2024 class of 25 institutions is the inaugural group of universities to receive the Carnegie Elective Classification for Leadership for Public Purpose. Of the 25 institutions, they are located in 19 states across the United States, 15 are public institutions, 10 are private, and two are service academies. Valpo is the only school in the state of Indiana to hold this classification.

Valparaiso University is an independent, Doctoral/Professional University with a comprehensive liberal arts curriculum in Valparaiso, Indiana. Nearly 3,000 students and 250 full-time faculty comprise a community of learning dedicated to excellence and grounded in the Lutheran tradition of scholarship, freedom and faith.

Valpo is nationally recognized for the quality and innovative character of its academic programs. Valparaiso University offers more than 70 undergraduate programs through the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business, Engineering, Nursing and Health Professions and Christ College — The Honors College. Valpo also has more than 20 degree and certificate programs in its Graduate School and Continuing Education.

This week in history

July 13, 1943

The Battle of Kursk, involving some 6,000 tanks, two million men, and 5,000 aircraft, ended with the German offensive repulsed by the Soviets at heavy cost to both sides.

In early July, Germany and the USSR concentrated their forces near the city of Kursk in western Russia, site of a 150-mile-wide Soviet pocket that jutted 100 miles into the German lines.

The German attack began on July 5, and 38 divisions, nearly half of which were armored, began moving from the south and the north. However, the Soviets had better tanks and air support than in previous battles, and in bitter fighting Soviet antitank artillery destroyed as much as 40 percent of the German armor, which included their new Mark VI Tiger tanks.

After six days of warfare concentrated near Prokhorovka, south of Kursk, the German Field Marshal Gunther von Kluge called off the offensive, and by July 23 the Soviets had forced the Germans back to their original positions. In the beginning of August, the Soviets began a major offensive around the Kursk salient, and within a few weeks the Germans were in retreat all along the eastern front.

In under a year the Allies would invade the Nazi empire and relentlessly push east toward Berlin, while the Soviet armies continued to drive west toward the same city, with the Nazis trapped in between.

Career scholarship account application now open for Indiana high school students

The State of Indiana is now accepting applications for students to participate in the Career Scholarship Account (CSA) program during the upcoming school year. The first-in-the-nation CSA program provides $5,000 annually for tenth through twelfth grade students enrolled in eligible work-based learning programs, including internships, apprenticeships, applied learning experiences and credential attainment experiences.

"In K-12 education, we have an incredible opportunity to help every student find their purpose, know their value and understand the possibilities for their life's path," said Dr. Katie Jenner, Indiana Secretary of Education. "In order to maximize the four years of high school, we must work together to ensure more students have access to quality experiences that set them up for success, including high-quality work-based learning and educational attainment opportunities. Indiana's CSA program is one way to remove barriers, such as transportation, and ensure more students have the opportunity to experience careers and earn a credential of value while still in high school."

Indiana's CSA program provides all students the opportunity to explore their interests, gain hands-on experience and build skills that will ensure a seamless transition from high school to higher education and quality careers. CSA funds can be used to cover eligible expenses in the following categories:

- Enrollment fees for courses, sequences, apprenticeships or programs of study;
- Career coaching and navigation services;
- Postsecondary education and training;
- Transportation and equipment; and
- Certification and credentialing examinations.

"Career exploration through work-based learning programs is incredibly valuable to a student's journey to determine their ideal pathway after high school," said Indiana Commissioner for Higher Education Chris Lowery. "As students receive more flexibility to participate in these hands-on experiences, Indiana's CSA Program will remove potential barriers and increase opportunities for students to discover possibilities for education and training beyond high school."

Through a coordinated cross-agency effort, the Indiana Department of Education approves eligible programs, the Indiana Commission for Higher Education approves eligible providers and the Treasurer

(CPCF from Pg. 1) "I felt privileged and honored to once again be involved in the CPCF scholarship night," said CPCF Board Member Dean Jones. "The evening was fantastic and experiencing it with the deserving students & families gives me a first-hand glimpse of an important role the Foundation plays in our community. You really get to see the results of the hard work and dedication these talented students have put forth."

We are grateful to our Community Partner, the Halls of St. George, for generously hosting the special evening; our Platinum Sponsor, Strack & Van Till; our Silver Sponsors, Gigi's Bake Shoppe, Puntillo & Crane Orthodontics, SLP Commercial & Janitorial Services, and Southlake Auto; and our Bronze Sponsors, Levin Tire & Service Center, CP Coworking, Tri Kappa of Crown Point, Alex Nickla and The Nickla Group, and LGS Plumbing, Inc. Their support, along with that from Twisted Sugar, The Party Girl Charcuterie, Albanese Candy, Cake Pop Craze by Mallory, and John Bir Photography, was instrumental in making this event a success.

of State approves eligible students and provider expense reimbursements. "We are really excited to see how Career Scholarship Accounts will continue to provide great alternative career paths for our students," said Daniel Elliott, Indiana Treasurer of State. "With apprenticeship programs gaining momentum, this is another example of how Indiana is leading the way in offering more options for school choice, ensuring that everyone can find the path

Students at any Indiana high school are encouraged to apply. Applications for the 2024-2025 school year will be accepted through Tuesday, October 1. Visit the student resources page for additional information on the CSA program, eligibility requirements and to access the student application.

ies trust, fosters a sense of belonging, and cultivates a positive school culture where every student feels loved, valued and supported."

Finalists for Secondary Teacher of the Year were:

- Mary Lux - CPHS
- Amy Mehrle - Col. Wheeler

Employee of the Year - Jennifer Eaton

Jennifer Eaton is an Applied Skills paraprofessional at Crown Point High School. Mrs. Eaton helped successfully navigate caring for our exceptional education students at CPHS this year through some significant changes.

James Twardy, a CPHS teacher, recognized her accomplishments. "Jenny's commitment and care for her students and co-workers is on full display for all who enter the classroom, as she routinely puts others' needs first. Jenny is always willing to go above and beyond to meet the needs of her students. Her patience and positive disposition help her establish positive relationships with her students, creating a safe and comforting learning environment. Jenny shows initiative and is quick to step up to meet any challenge, taking on new roles and providing veteran leadership. Her dedication and experience make her a valuable asset to the CPHS Exceptional Education team."

Finalists for Employee of the Year were:

- Bob Berkes - Maintenance, Carpenter
- Scott Kessler - Driver Coach

Administrator of the Year - Martin Freeman

Marty Freeman is CPCSC's Director of Transportation and has a 30-year career in education. Marty arrived in our district in 2022 and led the transportation department through what could be described as a reboot. Under his guidance and leadership, we've recruited and retained more bus drivers, established a sense of community amongst our transportation employees, and become more efficient with our transportation services. Marty leads his team in covering more than one million miles per year.

Spirit of a Bulldog Award - Pam Maloney

Pam Maloney is our Director of Food Services and is retiring after 23 years of service. Her dedication to providing nutritious meals to our students, managing our cafeterias, and navigating changes in food service requirements is unmatched. We estimate that over the course of her tenure, Pam has led her team in serving nearly 14 million meals to students.

Obituary ~ Linda Grube Eisenhauer

Linda Grube Eisenhauer, cherished friend and beloved family member, died unexpectedly on June 19, 2024, leaving behind a legacy of kindness and enduring service. She was born in Logansport, Indiana to Donald and Isabel (Murdock) Grube. In 1961, she married the love of her life Ronald G. Eisenhauer. Linda brought joy and laughter to every event, making countless friends along the way and creating treasured memories for all. She will be remembered for her unwavering dedication to her friends and the numerous organizations she supported. Linda is survived by her son, Donald (Mary Jane) and grandchildren Mary Frances, George and Harriet. A visitation was held on June 26, 2024, and funeral was on June 27, 2024, both taking place at Burns Funeral
